

Moira Stuart

I was the first black woman on the BBC News

ALFIE James Foley

Moira Stuart

*Warmest good wishes,
Moira Stuart*

Moira Stuart was the first black female to present BBC News !

By Grace Klerman

Moira Clare Ruby Stuart OBE (born 2 September 1949) who was the first African-Caribbean female newsreader to appear on British television. Her Parents are Marjorie Gordon, Harold Stuart She was Born in the Royal Free Hospital. She has two sisters, Sandra and Sharon .

Moria Stuart

Black British news
presenter on bbc news

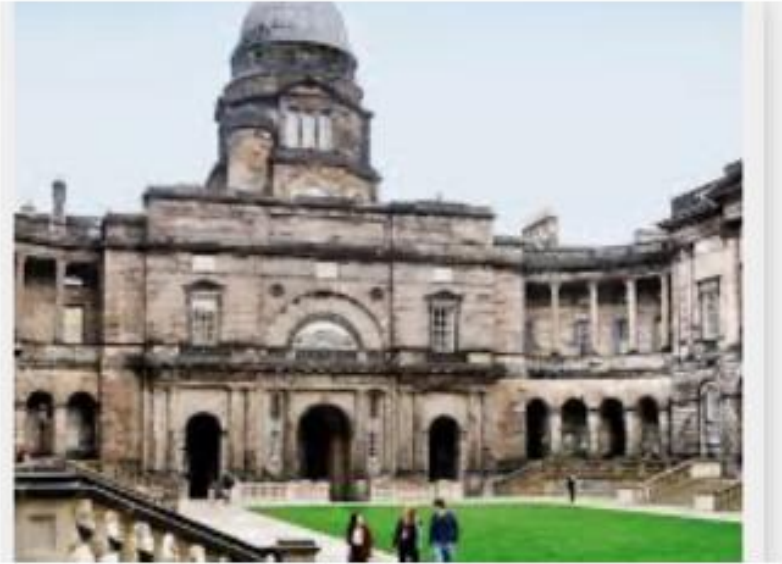

. Moria Stuart was born in the royal Free hospital London on september 1949

. She was educated in London until she was 13 attending our ladys convent

. She had two sisters Sandra and Sharon. And her mother is Marjorie Gordon

. A lot of her family were slaves . Her nan was the first black student to finish university

Her work about showing people that she can do the job that she wanted to do no matter what her skin colour was really inspired some people.

. She has no kids and still alive till this day . She is 77 years of age.

. Since August 27 1981 Stuart has presented on every news bulletin devised on BBC television

Apart from the the ten o'clock news she has also appeared on the news Quiz. And presented on the BBC news breakfast with frost each Sunday

In April 2007 she announced that Stuart would be leaving Sunday AM resulting in the loss resulting a regular slot in broadcast TV

Moria Stuart

First black British news
presenter on bbc

Sofia whitty

She does not work on the news anymore
because she has retired

Des Lynam was nearly married to moira

